

ECONOMIC CONSULTING SERVICES, LLC

CIVIL LITIGATION PRACTICE GROUP

ECONOMIC CONSULTING SERVICES (ECS)

For nearly thirty years, Economic Consulting Services, LLC (ECS) has been assisting law firms and their clients in international trade remedy, tax and other regulatory matters, as well as in civil litigation, where the analysis and testimony of economic experts can be crucial to a positive outcome. In response to the growing demand for our services in general litigation matters, we are pleased to announce the formation of our Civil Litigation Practice Group.

EXPERIENCE

Our staff includes senior professional economists with a long history of providing expert testimony, as well as accountants and other specialists in economics, finance and statistics. With more than thirty full-time personnel, we are in a position to provide work products of the highest quality on a cost-effective and timely basis.

Our prior work has involved a wide variety of companies in manufacturing, agriculture, services and distribution. The breadth of our projects encompasses the calculation of economic damages incurred and the evaluation of damage claims by others, the purchase or sale of a business, the valuation of businesses for estate tax purposes, mergers and acquisitions, analysis of third-party licensing arrangements, buy-ins and cost-sharing arrangements, and purchase price allocations. Increasingly, our work has focused on assigning reasoned valuations of both established and nascent intellectual property for tax and other purposes.

THE ECS ADVANTAGE

The depth of expertise among ECS' staff in economics, finance, accounting, and computer science, as well as its breadth of experience among U.S. and foreign industries, permits ECS to provide expert analysis and advice in the full array of litigation scenarios. ECS' size and flexible staffing capabilities also permit it to provide services tailored to meet the client's budget requirements.

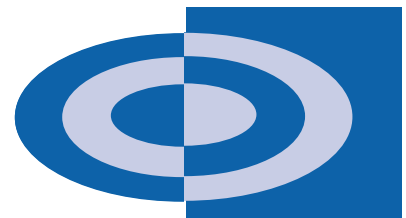

CIVIL LITIGATION SERVICES

The Civil Litigation Practice Group will specialize in commercial litigation matters and alternative forms of dispute settlement involving the assessment of economic damages, the valuation of businesses and the valuation of intellectual property. Our capabilities extend to providing assistance at all points in the process, from initial development of strategy, to discovery, preparation of the economic analysis itself, and the expert testimony, as necessary.

- Litigation Support: ECS offers clients expert economic advice, reports, and court testimony in conjunction with matters under litigation in federal and state proceedings. ECS also assists clients on matters involving a wide range of tax and regulatory agencies.

- Economic Damages: Economic damages must be determined in many corporate litigation cases. If losses stem from an impairment to a business or intangible property, ECS can determine the proper value of the loss.

- Computer Programming and Database Management: For almost 30 years, ECS has provided litigation support services to local, national, and international law firms in various disciplines. We also offer computer programming in SAS, MS Access, and dBase, with the capability to create and analyze large electronic databases that are increasingly useful in litigation.

- Our Clients: ECS' clients include the most prominent law firms as well as Fortune 500 firms and numerous trade associations. Our global clients span a broad spectrum of industries such as energy, chemicals, metals and other natural resources, electronics / high-tech, pharmaceuticals, agriculture, and industrial goods.
